

50th IPA Convention and Exhibition
20-22 (Wed – Fri) May 2026, ICE BSD, Tangerang

CALL FOR PAPER

Abstract Submission Deadline
24 October 2025

The IPA Technical Program Committee is calling for paper related to oil and gas industry activities from you or your staff for the technical program of the next annual IPA Convention & Exhibition scheduled for 20-22 May 2026, at ICE BSD, Tangerang.

The deadline for abstract submission is 24 October 2025. Along with the abstract, which should include the title and description of the paper (please see below), please provide the primary author's name, affiliation, address, mobile number, email, and the names of co-authors, if any. Abstracts must have internal approval prior to submission. Students will be required to identify their respective University Staff Mentor / Advisor.

The abstract should be able to stand alone as a short version of the paper and should be written in English with a maximum length of 300 words. The abstract should answer the following questions in a straightforward manner:

1. What did you do and how did you do it?
2. What results are of interest to the IPA membership, for example relevant innovations, novel technologies, or practical applications?

Abstracts will be judged on technical merit, originality, and anticipated audience interest. About 225 papers are targeted for acceptance, inclusion in the Proceedings, and presentation during the Convention & Exhibition.

After the abstract is accepted, authors will provide a Draft of the paper, and later a Final Draft, before the paper is included as a published manuscript in the Proceedings and presented.

Papers should be no longer than 5,000 words or 15 pages of text, tables, and figures. Papers also should not contain any kind of commercialism. Manuscripts will be distributed to participants in a digital format and published for international access.

The presentations will be no longer than 20 minutes. There will also be a Q&A session.
